

AQA A-level Psychology

Paper 1 | Social Influence

Revision Activity Booklet

Name:

Topic Checklist

Page	Subtopic	I have completed the booklet activity	I can recall AO1 without error
3	Types of conformity: internalisation, identification and compliance. Explanations for conformity: informational social influence and normative social influence
4	Variables affecting conformity including group size, unanimity and task difficulty as investigated by Asch
5	Conformity to social roles as investigated by Zimbardo
6-7	Situational variables affecting obedience including proximity and location, as investigated by Milgram, and uniform
8-9	Explanations for obedience: agentic state and legitimacy of authority
10	Dispositional explanation for obedience: the Authoritarian Personality
11	Explanations of resistance to social influence, including social support and locus of control
12	Minority influence including reference to consistency, commitment and flexibility
13-14	The role of social influence processes in social change

Activity 1: Types of conformity: internalisation, identification and compliance.
 Explanations for conformity: informational social influence and normative social influence

Task: List and define the 3 level of conformity

Task: Complete the boxes below.

NSI	ISI
Definition: Highlight the relevant terms: Based on the need to be right / liked Short term / long term changes Leads to internalisation/ identification/ compliance Ambiguous / non ambiguous situations	Definition: Highlight the relevant terms: Based on the need to be right / liked Short term / long term changes Leads to internalisation/ identification/ compliance Ambiguous / non ambiguous situations

Task: Bullet point two strengths and limitations below.

Strengths	Limitations

Activity 2: Variables affecting conformity including group size, unanimity and task difficulty as investigated by Asch

Asch's line study

Task: Complete the grid below for Asch's original baseline study.

Aim	Procedure
Findings	Conclusion

Task: Complete the boxes below.

Group size	Unanimity	Task difficulty
Asch's variation:	Asch's variation:	Asch's variation:
Findings (%):	Findings (%):	Findings:
Reason:	Reason:	Reason:

Task: Bullet point two strengths and limitations below.

Strengths	Limitations

Activity 3: Conformity to social roles as investigated by Zimbardo.

Task: Complete the grid below for The Stanford Prison Experiment.

Aim	Procedure
Findings	Conclusion

Task: Bullet point two strengths and limitations below.

Strengths	Limitations

Activity 4: Situational variables affecting obedience including proximity and location, as investigated by Milgram, and uniform

Task: Complete the grid below for Milgram’s original baseline study.

Aim	Procedure
Findings Quantitative: Qualitative:	Conclusion

Task: Bullet point two strengths and limitations below.

Strengths	Limitations

Activity 5: Situational variables affecting obedience including proximity and location, as investigated by Milgram, and uniform

The baseline obedience rate in Milgram was %

Task: Complete the boxes below.

Proximity	Location	Uniform
Teacher to learner Variation: Obedience rate: Reason: Experimenter to teacher Variation: Obedience rate: Reason:	Variation: Obedience rate: Reason:	Bickman (1976) Procedure: Findings: Reason:

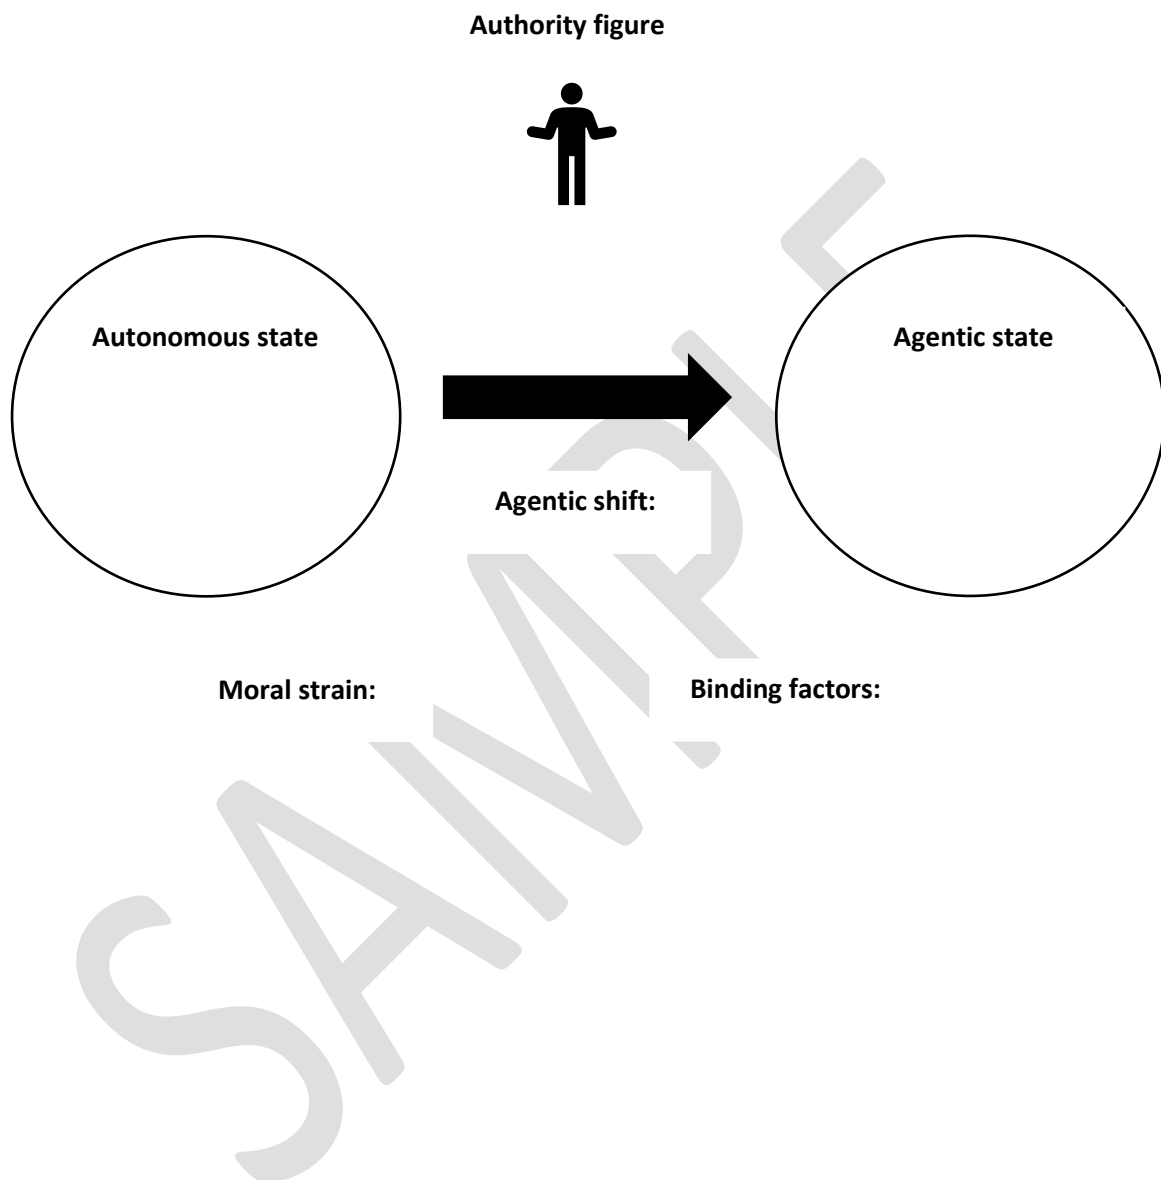

Task: Bullet point two strengths and limitations below.

Strengths	Limitations

Activity 6: Explanations for obedience: agentic state

Agentic State

Task: Add definitions to the diagram below.

Task: Bullet point two strengths and limitations below.

Strengths	Limitations

Activity 7: Explanations for obedience: legitimacy of authority.

Task: Answer the questions below.

1. Why do people give up their individual freedom to authority? (use the words social hierarchy and societal control).
2. Define 'legitimate authority' without using either of the words in the definition.
3. What factors give people 'legitimate authority'?
4. Where do we learn to accept legitimate authority?
5. What is meant by destructive authority? Use an example in your definition.

Task: Bullet point two strengths and limitations below.

Strengths	Limitations

Activity 8: Dispositional explanation for obedience: the Authoritarian Personality.

Task: Answer the questions below.

What is meant by a dispositional explanation?
Which theory is this in direct contrast with?

Task: Complete the grid below Adorno's research:

Aim	Conclusion
Procedure	Findings Link to obedience: Personality traits: Thinking style:

Task: According to Adorno where does the dispositional personality come from? (psychodynamic and displacement)

Task: Bullet point two strengths and limitations below.

Strengths	Limitations